Over 400 Music Lovers Attend Concerts Presented By Coleman Choral Society

Variety and Professionally Enthusiastic Response From Paced Performances Draw Sell-Out Audiences on Both Evenings

Under the inspired baton of Mrs. F. R. Duncanson, the Coleman Choral Society more than lived up to advance notices at their Spring concert on Thursday and Friday evenings last staged in the High School Auditorium. A Lethbridge visitor who attended the first night performance expressed unqualified delight at the artistic level achieved by the Society. His reaction was summed up in the following remarks, "The entire concert would have done credit to the largest cities in the country. I got the surprise of my life."

The outstanding features of the concerts were the professional manner in which they were carried out from start to finish. The hesitant, amateur delays usually associated with a small town concert were conspicuous by their absence as number followed number with the practiced pace of a Broadway production. Even the intermission period was worked into the show as the result of a smooth bit of staging by Reuben Johnson who, to the accompaniment of some smart patter had the surprised audience taking a Concert version of baseball's seventh inning "stretch" before they realized what he was up to.

Another modern touch was added to the affairs by the installation of a recording machine in the wings under the technical supervision of its owner, Bert Hopp. Both concerts were recorded in their entirety and Saturday shoppers on Main Street were given the recorded version of the Concert via a loud speaker placed at a vantage point above street level. Incidentally, Bert reports keen interest in the recordings and Society members and others are urged to place their orders as soon as possible as reproduction facilities are limited.

At the completion of Friday evening's performance, Mrs. Duncanson was presented with a beautiful bouquet of carnations by Mr. James Cousins on behalf of the choir. In making the presentation, Mr. Cousins emphasized the fact that the floral gift was but a small token of the Society's affection and respect for a leader who had worked tirelessly to achieve the success indicated by the warm, enthusiastic applause of their audiences. The choir's accompanist, Miss Pat Fraser, was also the recipient of a suitable token of the Society's appreciation.

The complete program follows:

"O Canada"; 1, Three selections by the choir, "He that hath a Pleasant Face", "Sweet and Low" and the "Viking Song"; 2, Baritone solo by Reuben Johnson, "Roll on Thou Deep and Dark Blue Ocean"; "Cradle Song"; 3, Men's quartette, "The Torpedo and the Whale" and "Drink to Me Only"; J. Smith H. Allen, J. Cousins and F. Smith, 4, Tenor Solos by R. Woods, "Because" and "My Little Irish Girl"; Three selections by the Choir, "Rolling Down to Rio", "Sylvia" and "Old Oypsy, Play Your Songs So Fine"; 5, Boy's Solos by Danny Fraser, "The Sailor's Song" and "The Spider Hunter"; 7, Piano Solos by Pat Fraser, Greg's "Papillon" and Caminade's "Scar Dance"; 8, Three selections by the Choir, "Hall, Smiling Morn", "Now Spring in All Her Glory" and "Waiting Matilda"; 9, Violin Solos by Francis Graham, Borowski's "Adoration and White's "Valse Coquette";

Coleman Elks To Award Cash Prizes To Top Students

Bert Bond Will Head Committee Formed To Plan Incentive Prizes for Boy and Girl With Top Marks In June Exams.

That Coleman's various organizations exist for something besides social gatherings was indicated again over the weekend by the announcement that the Coleman lodge of the BPOE had decided at a recent meeting to award cash prizes of $25 each to the boy and girl securing top marks in the departmental examinations to be written in June.

Bert Bond was elected chairman of the committee set up to supervise this incentive innovation to stimulate added interest among the students of Grade Nine. It will be recalled that this particular grade had the lowest passing percentage in former departmental examinations due, as explained by Principal David Hoyle in the course of his recent annual report, to the department's policy of basing the Grade Nine tests on the student's adaptiveness rather than on the actual work done in the terms preceding the examinations.

In a statement to the Journal outlining the proposals, Mr. Bond declared, "We hope other organizations will follow the Elks' example by similar awards in other Grades. We felt that Grade Nine was the most appropriate class in which to initiate a plan of this type but the basic principle involved applies to all grades."

At a recent meeting of the Coleman local of the U. M. W. A. it was decided to sponsor a free Saturday matinee once each month for the students of Coleman from Grades 1 to 9 inclusive. Date of the first show, to be held in April, has not yet been set but will be announced soon.

Four Year Old Blaire More Tot Saves Playmate's Life

Four-year-old Wendy Crystal daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Crystal, is a heroine today. She is credited with rescuing her playmate, Sharon Downey, from an icy death in the fast-rushing waters of the Oldman River which winds its way through North Blairemore.

The near-drowning occurred at 3.15 p.m. on March 25, 15 feet west of spur line railway bridge near the Greenhill mine tipple. The two little girls were playing on the ice surface when it suddenly gave way in a week spot and Sharon was plunged into the icy waters. Sharon is also four years old.

Little Wendy Crystal, eight months younger than Sharon, immediately went to her assistance and pulled her out. While there were no witnesses to the accident, Francis J. Lote, grandfather of Sharon, viewed the scene of the accident later and explained that little foot tracks can be seen as well as the spot on the ice surface where the little rescuer pulled Sharon out of the cold waters.

Wendy brought Sharon to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lote, where Sharon is visiting with her mother, Mrs. Grace Downey of Brantford, Ont., dripping with water from her neck down. She was blue with cold and it took some time to restore proper blood circulation to her body.

Wendy told Mr. and Mrs. Lote that "Sharon fell in the river and I pulled her out." Mr. Lote and Wendy returned to the scene of the accident later and Mr. Lote said that the foot tracks could be plainly seen where Wendy pulled Sharon out of the river. "It's almost unbelievable," said Mr. Lote, "But the little foot tracks and broken ice tell a clear story of what happened."

Fortunately the water in the river is low at this time of year and although the waters are rushing strongly under the ice at the point of the accident, the water only measures two feet, six inches deep.

Former Coleman Star Makes American League All-Stars

Dan Sprout, of Cleveland Barons Well Supported by League's All-Star Selectors

Idol of Coleman hockey fans back in the days when Coleman Canadians were classed as one of Western Canada's top senior clubs, Dan Sprout, now starting with the Cleveland Barons in the American League, was selected to the loop's alternate All-Star team when the ballots were tallied up last week.

Sprout actually tied with teammate Hy Butler in votes but Butler got the nod by virtue of more first place points. Commenting on Sprout's selection, Tom Moore, of the Albertan paid a stirring tribute to the erstwhile Coleman star, describing his selection as a long overdue honor to one of the greatest team inspirers and spirit players in the puck business.

Hollingshead And Coupland Re-Elected To Crows Nest Pass Municipal Hospital Board

William Berry, of Bellevue, Runs Poor Third in Bellevue Ballotting. Meeting Still Objects to Voting Procedure

On the heels of the Municipal Hospital Board's announcement that the long awaited institution would be opened officially on April 4, close to 100 ratepayers crowded the Oddfellows Hall, Bellevue on Saturday afternoon last to cast their ballots for a trio of candidates seeking election as representatives of local District No. 10.

Jock Dugdale, of Bellevue, occupied the chair and although the meeting accepted the electoral ruling as contained in the Municipal Hospitals Act and conducted the election accordingly, the chairman accepted a motion from the floor that a protest be sent to Premier Manning asking that the procedure now contained in the Act be revised to allow day-long balloting polling stations scattered throughout the district. A copy of the protest will also be sent to William Kovatch, M.L.A.

Results of the ballot indicated that the majority favored the re-election of the District's retiring members, Albert Hollingshead, of Hillcrest, who topped the poll with 73 votes, and Geo. Coupland, of Bellevue, who received 56. The third candidate, William Berry, also of Bellevue, lagged badly with a total of 34. Judging by sentiments expressed at the meeting the majority based their choices on the fact that with the Hospital's actual opening only a matter of a few weeks away, it was only fitting that the men who had persevered for several years to bring the Hospital into the practical realm of operation should be on hand to see their labour bear fruit.

In the meantime, last minute preparations are being rushed at the Hospital and a small army of cleaners are busily engaged setting everything in shape for the official opening, Monday, April 4. The Hospital will not be actually open for business until April 11. Thousands are expected to inspect every nook and cranny of the building following its official opening on the 4th and throughout the next day. It is expected several days will be required to clean up following this invasion of eager visitors.

In addition, the personnel will require a breathing spell to ensure complete co-ordination of the various duties to be performed and then, this accomplished, the Crow's Nest Pass Municipal Hospital will open its doors to those it is destined to serve at 8 a.m., Monday, April 11.

Jocky Anderson Well On Road To Recovery

Returns to Work Following Successful Treatment at Edinburgh Infirmary. Scottish Doctor Commends Local Diagnosis.

His many friends in Coleman will be pleased to hear that "Jocky" Anderson has shown remarkable improvement in health following his return to his native Scotland. Jocky's condition was the cause of great concern when he left Coleman last year and friends' and relatives alike doubted his ability to survive the trip due to his extremely weakened condition.

He was admitted to the Royal Infirmary in Edinburgh immediately on arrival in Scotland and following an exhaustive diagnosis the medics at that world famous medical centre began treatments similar to the ones he had undergone in Coleman. In this connection the Edinburgh specialists revealed that the Coleman doctor, under whose care Jocky had been prior to his departure was on the right track and lacked only one detail which the Scottish specialists had discovered in treating the disease just before Jocky's arrival in their institution.

Latest information, contained in a letter received by his brother, Jimmy Anderson, is to the effect that Jocky is oack at work in a plant located in his home town, having gained considerable weight and well on the road to complete recovery.

Oil On The Prairies

WITH THE DEVELOPMENT OF gasoline engines, oil has taken on increasing importance through the years as a source of power, and has brought great wealth to many of the areas from which it has been secured. In time of war its value becomes very great because of the large amounts required to operate airplanes and other motorized war equipment. It is also important in time of peace to both the economic and industrial life of a nation. The United States is the largest producer of oil at the present time, supplying about seventy per cent. of the world's needs. Other rich sources of supply are in Russia, Iran, parts of South America, Mexico and the Dutch East Indies.

Is Produced In The West

For some time crude oil has been produced in Alberta's Turner Valley and more recently in the rich Leduc and Redwater fields in the northern part of the province. There is now great interest in extensive developments taking place in Saskatchewan. These are mainly in an area extending from the American boundary about 400 miles north, and bordering on Alberta. This territory includes the Lloydminster district where more than 140 wells are now capable of producing. More than 1,500,000 barrels of oil were produced there during the first four years of operation, and in July of last year, the yield exceeded 3,000 barrels a day. There is an estimated reserve of 300,000,000 barrels in these fields and in the coming months great activity is expected in the search for new wells in the province.

Now Supplying Local Markets

Another great potential source of oil in Canada lies in the tar sands, covering 1,000 square miles of northern Alberta, and research work is now being carried on to determine whether it would be practical to extract oil from these sands for commercial purposes. Proposals have been made that some day a pipeline might carry oil from that area, to join one now planned to be built from Leduc and Redwater, to convey oil across the prairies and eventually to the United States. Undoubtedly Canada has considerable potential wealth in the oil fields of the prairies. At the present time they supply a large proportion of the gasoline being used in the West, and it is expected that in the future they may serve much wider markets, bringing consequent benefits to the economy of this part of Canada.

EXPECTS DEMAND FOR FARM PRODUCTS TO EQUAL 1948

OTTAWA. — Overall demand for farm products in 1949 is expected to equal that of 1948, though export demand may fall off, it was reported in the current review of agricultural conditions in Canada, an agriculture department monthly publication.

It suggested domestic demand for farm products may exceed that of 1948. Prices received by farmers were expected to remain at 1948 levels, though there may be some decline towards the year-end.

Farm prices in 1948 were 20 per cent. higher than in 1947, with preliminary estimates placing net income at $1,730,000,000 against $1,235,000,000 in 1947.

The review held that farmers were "better off in the long run" because the prices of commodities and services which they use, including living costs, increased by only 16.4 per cent. during the year. Heavier marketings also improved their position.

ALASKA MAY CONSIDER TAXING SPINSTERS

JUNEAU, Alaska. — Braving the wrath of spinsters, Democrat William Egan introduced a bill in the Alaska House of Representatives calling for a tax of $50 a head on single women.

He said its intent was to "further the institution of matrimony, relieve the housing shortage and levy a special tax on the privilege of being single."

The bill was referred to the ways and means committee.

Canada is the second greatest pulp producer and exporter in the world.

FUNNY And OTHERWISE

A voluble man was giving evidence in an important law case, and the reporters were having a difficult time. The more they expected themselves, the faster he went. They had almost reached the point of exhaustion when he suddenly turned to them and shouted: "Not so fast! Not so fast! Don't write so fast! How do you think I can keep up with you?"

A five-year-old boy had been having trouble at the hands of a small school-fellow. One day, on his return from school, he remarked to his mother: "Johnny isn't nasty to me any more; every time I see him, I hit him to keep him kind."

"Now," said the magistrate to the chatty prisoner, "what have you got to say?"

"I've got a good deal to say if you only give me time," replied the prisoner, angrily.

"Certainly," replied the magistrate blandly. "Six months!"

She: "I spent $15,000 to learn to sing."

He: "Well, I want you to meet my brother."

"She—'Is he a critic?'"

He: "No, He's a lawyer. He'll get your money back."

Little Boy (talking to his mother): "I ain't afraid of going to the hospital, mother. I'll be good and take the medicine, but I ain't going to let them pain off a baby on me like they d.d. you. I want a pup!"

"Daddy, why is mummy singing?"

"She's singing baby to sleep."

"Will she stop when baby is asleep?"

"Yes, dear."

"Then why doesn't baby pretend to be asleep?"

Head Clerk: "I am very sorry to hear of your partner's death. Would you like me to take his place?"

Manager: "Very much, if you can get the undertaker to arrange it."

The little missus put her arms around her hubby's neck, smiled sweetly and delivered this bit of female financial logic.

"Honey, will you lend me twenty dollars but only give me ten of it? Then I'll owe you ten, and you'll owe me ten, and we'll be even."

Tourists From Across Border Increasing

OTTAWA. — American visitors traveling by automobile rolled across the border into Canada in increasing numbers during February.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported that the number of foreign vehicles entering Canada on traveler's vehicle permits totalled 35,800, an increase of 7 per cent. over the same month last year. Manitoba and British Columbia figures were down.

Totals for February by provinces with figures for 1948 in brackets include:

British Columbia 4,879 (8,143); Alberta 302 (218); Manitoba 175 (215); Yukon Territory 31 (33); Saskatchewan 30 (26).

Sunflower Seed Hulls Used As Fuel

WINNIPEG. — Co-Operative Vegetable Oils Ltd. plant at Altona, which processes the sunflower crop raised by Manitoba farmers in south-central Manitoba, has developed a new industry to utilize sunflower seed hulls as fuel.

Since the plant started, hulls have been a waste by-product but last year the company began turning them out as "Presto-logs".

Logs are about 12½ in. long, four in. in diameter. Tests have shown they have a higher Btu rating than lignite coal. After careful trials they are getting a ready market as an ideal fuel for kitchen ranges, fireplaces, and—if weather is not too severe—in furnaces.

Special machine has been installed in plant which turns out from 10 to 12 tons of logs a day. They are sold at $12 a unit—slightly less than a ton.

Large machine has three motors—50, 15 and one h.p.—which go on and off each 30 seconds. Special high tension line was built to the machine by Manitoba Power Commission, which also supplied three extra transformers especially for the unit.

Seed hulls are compressed under 165,000 lb. sq. ft., turned out in a solid fuel log said to be three times as dense as wood and which burns like coal. Logs may be easily split into smaller pieces.

Oil-processing operations of the plant leaves more than 15 tons of sunflower seed hulls a day. The one machine installed can handle this; left-overs are given to farmers who haul them away and use them for poultry litter, cattle bedding, and in some cases for cattle feed.

Farmers in the Altona district put in 88,000 acres of sunflowers in 1948 to supply the plant. Gross yield was 23.1 million lb. at an average of 5.55¢ a lb. Producers were paid $1.3 millions, averaging $46 an acre.

Alberta Farmer Is Glad He Doesn't Share Profits Of Richest Oil Strike

EDMONTON.—Phillip Schoep, a middle-aged farmer, owns the land on which Canada's richest oil well is being drilled—and he's happy because he'll get none of the profits.

Austrian-born Schoep owns the half-section of land about 15 miles southwest of Edmonton where Imperial Oil Limited is drilling a well that already has proven the richest pay-zone in Canadian oil history.

Schoep might have been well on his way to becoming a millionaire if he had owned the mineral rights on the land where drillers have found 220 feet of oil-bearing limestone. But he doesn't mind.

"I think I am happier than I would be if I owned the mineral rights," he said. "I have no worries. A lot of money always means a lot of worries."

Mr. Schoep, in his 50's, retired from farming a few months ago, and moved with his family into the nearby town of Spruce Grove.

Even when the first oil strike at Leduc electrified the nation the Schoep family hadn't the slightest idea they were sitting atop of a new rich oil field.

"I was really glad when some wells were abandoned a few miles from my farm. I thought 'now we won't be bothered on my place,'" Mr. Schoep said.

Of course Mr. Schoep will be paid for surface drilling rights and a pipeline will likely go across his farm as the new field is developed. But he's missed out on the big jackpot.

CYANIDE GUNS USED IN DESTROYING WOLVES, COYOTES

WINNIPEG. — Cyanide guns have been used in Manitoba for the past year, as one method of killing predatory animals, G. W. Malaher, director of the fish and game branch of the mines and resources department said.

The guns had bagged between 30 and 40 timber wolves, scores of coyotes and a bear, Mr. Malaher said.

He was commenting on a report from Regina that the Saskatchewan government was considering adopting the cyanide gun and was preparing to send men to the United States to study its operations.

The gun consists of a short tube sunk in the ground. Inserted in the tube is a blank shell packed with cyanide poison. A bit of rabbit skin or cloth is wrapped over the end of the gun protruding from the earth. It is doused with a special scent which attracts wolves and coyotes.

When the animal bites the bit of skin a pinch is released which fires the shell and surrounds him with cyanide vapor.

Mr. Malaher said the gun was only used in isolated districts of Manitoba by representatives of the fish and game branch trained in its operation. It had been found effective, he said, providing it was operated by a man experienced in setting the gun.

Know Your Provinces

SASKATCHEWAN

Dominion's Great Wheat Province

This is the second of a series of articles inserted in these columns pertaining to our Western provinces, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, outlining their natural resources, industrial development, provincial parks and lake resorts, with a view of acquainting and familiarizing our readers of the vast and wonderful Canadian West.

SASKATCHEWAN, the breadbasket of Canada, is a land of many facets. Known far and wide for its limitless prairies, it is still a fact that the great wheatland stretches do not comprise half its territory — and this territory, much of it virtually unknown, is an empire of lakes, forests and mineral riches.

"Saskatchewan"—the word means fast flowing river — teems with tourist attractions. It harbors rich farmsteads, mighty rivers, quiet streams, innumerable vast and small lakes, and majestic woodlands. Most cosmopolitan of all Canada's provinces, and probably least known to the outside world, Saskatchewan has been built of many races. It is a state without prejudice, where a man is judged for his true value, where hospitality attains its peak.

The size of the province often astounds visitors. It is larger than any European country except Russia. It is twice as large as the British Isles, as large as the whole of France, Belgium, and Holland. Its area is greater than the combined areas of North Dakota and Montana. The population reached a peak in 1931 when it stood at 921,785. During the drought years the population fell but by 1941 it had climbed to 895,922. Slightly more than two-thirds of the population is rural. Over 70 per cent. is Canadian born.

Few outside the province may know that nearly two-thirds of this western province, the top half that juts into the Northwest Territories, is a land of forests, lakes and rivers, with great potential wealth in timber, fur and fish, and with unexcelled possibilities as a vacation land.

Saskatchewan possesses an abundance of clay suitable for use in the refining and clarifying of oils and fats. They vary in composition from almost pure bentonites to very impure bentonitic clay. It also possesses the common brick and tile clays to the high grade pottery and semi-china clays. Products of these clays have been manufactured and found markets outside the province and country.

The greater part of the sedimentary area of Saskatchewan, comprising some 170,000 square miles, or two-thirds of the total area of the province, may be classified as prospecting ground for petroleum and natural gas. Only a limited amount of development has been attempted to date and for the most part this vast potential source of petroleum products has remained unexplored.

Saskatchewan is ideal waterfowl country. The province is smack in the centre of one of the most thickly-populated of the waterfowl flyways, down which millions of ducks and geese travel every fall to their winter feeding grounds. It is also the haven for the big game hunter and trapper as northern Saskatchewan is an immense region whose forests are well stocked with a great variety of fur-bearing animals.

As a vacation land, Saskatchewan can be classed as one of the best. Many parks and summer resorts are established both in the north and south of the province, where the setting of beauty cannot be excelled, and development is steadily being carried forward.

Farm Product Prices Decline

OTTAWA—Canadian farmers averaged less money for their products during January, the dominion bureau of statistics reported.

The index on farm prices for the month, based on 100 for the 1935-36 period, was estimated at 258—down 1.4 points from the December figure. However, it was still 17.4 points above January, 1948. The all-time high was 264.1 in August, 1948.

The bureau disclosed that the decline from the December level was due to lower prices paid for livestock, pork, poultry eggs and grains other than wheat. The decrease in prices of these commodities more than offset increases recorded for dairy products and potatoes.

The glue machine in the lumber industry glues boards together edge-wise by use of heat and pressure. Narrow boards can thus be joined into panels up to 32 inches in width and any length up to 20 feet. The glued joint is stronger than the natural fibre of the wood.

HEALTH

Important Stage Milk Production Often Neglected

One of the most important stages in milk production—and one often neglected—is pasteurization, the scientific heating of the product to kill all virulent disease germs.

And, one of the reasons for this neglect is the argument that pasteurization, regarded by medical science as a disease-preventing and a life-saving measure, destroys the nutritive value of milk.

Such a claim has no basis of fact. Medical authorities state that none of the essential ingredients in milk is adversely affected by the heating process. There is no evidence that pasteurization destroys any food element of which raw milk has an adequate supply — remembering that even milk is not a complete food. Pasteurized or unpasteurized, it is deficient in Vitamin C—that is why infants are fed orange juice or tomato juice.

Pasteurization affects neither the limited Vitamin D content which likewise requires supplementing, nor the content of Vitamins A and B. The mineral salts are not affected. The protein is rendered more digestible by heat, and the fat globules are more finely divided.

Pasteurized Milk Is Safe.

HELP PREVENT EXTINCTION

Important Role Played By Museums In Preserving Wildlife

(By G. H. Slous, W. N. U.)

MANY have oft times seen the word "Museum," passed through buildings where birds, animals, insects and other creatures have been preserved in their natural form and color, and placed in display cases with background and formation that resembles the natural habitat as closely as possible. One seldom realizes or can visualize the great care and preparation that is necessary to accomplish the so-near realistic appearance. We also fail to value the important role it plays in preserving the near extinction of some bird or animal that has become very scarce by familiarizing the public with a specimen and display.

The work of a museum in this connection has been greatly valued during the last few years as governments and other associations have made efforts to prevent the extinction of the whooping crane that come to our north country to nest. The Saskatchewan museum has the distinction of owning two of 10 known whooping crane eggs to be found in museums. The museums are also one of the greatest educational contributors. Specimens and displays are often distributed to schools where children respond most enthusiastically in learning further about birds, animals, insects, etc. Furthermore a museum is also a medium for attracting tourists and hunters to our provinces.

To really appreciate museum displays a visit to the workshop is essential, since it is there that each specimen is mounted and the display cases built. The writer had the privilege of visiting the workshop of the Saskatchewan museum at Regina. The man most largely responsible for Saskatchewan's exceptionally fine museum since 1945 is Fred Bard, whose first acquaintance with the museum was in 1925. In that year, he joined the staff as an apprentice under H. H. Mitchell, who later retired. Mr. Bard, now director and curator of the museum, is the third man to hold that post.

One room of the workshop represents much like a cabinet-maker's room, where display cases were seen under construction. Close by a moth-proofing room is built, large enough to take care of several large animals. We were taken to a bench where at that time a specimen of a bull snake was being prepared. In preparing a specimen, first it is carefully skinned, washed, taken to the moth-proofing room, from there it is modelled and then mounted. Bird specimens are prepared in two different ways—"scientific" skins and mounted. The first method consists of filling with a cotton body until such time as the mounting is to be done. Mounting involves removing the cotton body and replacing it with one of excelsior. Animal specimens are modelled with excelsior only. Almost all bird displays contain part of a tree with a nest and eggs to illustrate nesting habits. To ensure an exact replica of the natural surroundings, many photographs are taken of the locale. Most of the exhibits are donated by interested individuals or groups, but many are purchased directly by the museum. Most natural history specimens are acquired by establishing field camps throughout the provinces in appropriate seasons. The museum also keeps abreast with the province's ethnological history with many fine exhibits of Indian beadwork, kitchen middens and peace canoes. A genuine Indian birchbark canoe from Northern Saskatchewan and a reproduction of an Indian grave, as well as photographs of prominent Saskatchewan Indians of the past, add further interest.

Some of the most common birds mounted are the snow bunting, mourning dove, ruby-throated hummingbird, great horned owl, piping plover, solitary sandpiper, western yellow-throat, yellow warbler, lark bunting, American Magpie and prairie sharp-tailed grouse. Outstanding are the habitat displays of waterfowl.

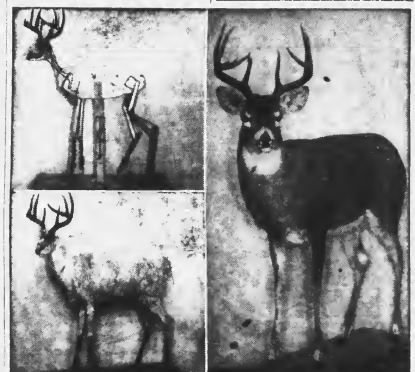

Among the animal specimens included the beautiful pronghorn antelope, the white-tailed deer, the long-tailed weasel, the prairie hare or jack-rabbit, the field mouse and the prairie dog with his near relative the gopher.

Our provincial museums are always interested in the possibility of adding to their exhibits, and appreciates any aid the public may be able to give.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

by
Don Graham

Young Bill had an inner longing to be a doctor. His natural talents would have carried him far in that profession. But instead he took a job in his father's dairy plant where he could earn good pay immediately. Compared with this job, a career in medicine—with its long, non-paying years of study and struggle to get established—seemed too tough. Now, although he is prospering, Bill regrets that choice.

Of course, the penalty of choosing the easy way against our better judgment is seldom so tragic. But whenever we make self-damaging compromises or neglect opportunities . . . whenever we turn ourselves into "yes-men" . . . whenever we sidestep duties, obstacles or problems that should be faced—the price is too high!

Only by accepting difficulties as challenges do we develop our full powers.

Scarcely more than a century ago, it was impossible for the average man to provide financial security for his dependents in the event of his death. But today, through life insurance, millions have overcome this difficulty and provided security for their loved ones while saving for their own retirement.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

A GOOD SUMMER AHEAD

Francis J. Lole's statement, concerning the future employment situation in the Crows Nest Pass and the obvious intention of Forestry officials to intensify their efforts to complete the Coleman-Kananaskis highway clearly indicates another season of peak employment and economic progress in our district.

The drastic slash in income taxes is another reminder that the period ahead may surpass preceding years in the overall economic situation and all sections of the community will benefit from the results. This happy prospective is marred only by the Provincial Government's continuing neglect of the deplorable condition of the highway from Pincher to Crows Nest.

Some indication that they intend to remedy the situation in the near future would just about make for a perfect picture of the immediate future as far as the Crows Nest Pass is concerned.

Ladies Auxiliary of Canadian Legion Stage Birthday Party

The I.O.O.F. Hall in Coleman was the scene of an enjoyable evening recently when the Ladies Auxiliary of the Coleman Branch of the Canadian Legion staged their annual birthday party.

Special guests of the evening were members of the Bellevue auxiliary and their husbands.

The banquet tables were tastefully decorated with flower bowls containing tulips, daffodils and carnations and centred by a beautifully decorated birthday cake made by Mrs. Fred Hurst. Following the banquet a concert was enjoyed under the able chairmanship of Mr. Adam Wilson, to which the following artists contributed:

Danny Fraser, Mrs. Ethel Kostelnik, Bob Lloyd, Harry Parkinson, Mrs. E. Campbell and Mrs. Nora Houghton. Accompanists for the evening were Mrs. Nora Goulding and Miss Pat Fraser.

EASTERN ROCKIES CONSERVATION BOARD TO GET $1,152,000

The Eastern Rockies Forest Conservation Board will have $1,152,000 for its '49-'50 development program, it was indicated in the estimates of the department of mines and resources.

The board was established by act of parliament in 1947 to co-operate with the province of Alberta in a program for the conservation and development of forest resources and the protection of watersheds on the eastern slopes of the Rocky Mountains, with a view to obtaining the greatest possible flow of water in the Saskatchewan river and its tributaries. The Hon. James A. MacKinnon, minister of mines and resources, stated that the 1949-'50 program will include the construction of roads in the area, the establishment of weather stations and fire look-outs, and numerous stream flow studies.

Another Startling Item taken from the recent brief presented to the Natural Gas Enquiry Commission by the Coal Industry.

" . . . It would require approximately 7 billion cubic feet of gas for the production of 55 million pounds of carbon black."

(Note: Canada in 1947 imported over 55 million pounds of carbon black valued at nearly $3,000,000, for use largely in the production of synthetic rubber at the Polymer plant in Sarnia.)

"The production of carbon black in Alberta is worthy of serious consideration and if developed, should be in the interests of Canadian Economy."

Nicholas' Dry Goods Store Changes Hands

Freeman's Ltd. Will Be New Name For One of Coleman's Oldest Business Establishments.

A name that has been associated with the business life on Coleman's Main Street for many years was removed from the ranks of the town's mercantile establishments during the past week with the announcement by Nick Nicholas of the sale of Nicholas Dry Goods to the Ponoka firm of Freeman and Green. The new owners took over officially on March 26 and henceforth the business will be known as Freeman's Ltd. Nick's future plans are still indefinite. In the meantime, his community activities continue unabated as we noted this past week that he was deeply concerned and involved in the plans of the Coleman Community Sports Association to stage a monster three night carnival in June to raise funds towards the renovation of Coleman's Crystal Arena.

The history of the establishment founded by Nick's dad, Charles Nicholas, practically involves a nostalgic recalling of Main Street's mercantile legend. "Charlie", as he was known to the countless thousands of Colemanites who had patronized his dry goods store for nearly four decades, founded the business in 1909 and operated it continuously up to the time when illness forced his retirement in 1947.

Following his death in May, 1948, Nick took over ownership and management of the business. The actual sale of the establishment did not come as a surprise to his friends as he had intimated on numerous occasions a desire to venture into other fields of endeavor.

EIGHT MONTHS OLD COLEMAN BABY DIES OF PNEUMONIA

The sympathy of the entire community goes out this week to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McGillivray, whose infant son, Brian, passed away in Coleman Miners Union Hospital following a vain battle by the local doctors to save the little one's life. Cause of death was pneumonia. Funeral services were conducted from Culham's Funeral Home, Coleman, Rev. R. Magowan, of the United Church, officiated. Interment was in the Coleman Union cemetery.

Three nationally known judges supervised the exacting tests.

The Fleetleader Special and Deluxe are both available on 115-inch wheelbase with a six-cylinder engine. Completely redesigned, the 1949 Pontiacs offer an entirely new concept of functional beauty. They are wider and lower than any model yet offered in the Pontiac line. GM's Hydra-Matic Drive is available as an option at extra cost on certain Pontiac models.

Prompt action by "Rock" Sudworth probably saved the life of Seward Tabor Jr. of Hillcrest, who suffered a broken and badly bruised leg when he slipped and was caught and dragged a number of feet by the coal bucket conveyor belt on the third floor of the East Kootenay Power Plant, about seven miles west of here.

Sudworth and Tabor, coal unloaders were cleaning up around the conveyor belt when Tabor accidentally slipped and was caught by a bucket and was dragged along the track for some distance. Rock quickly turned off the power but it was too late to save his partner from a broken leg.

Warns Workers Regarding Edmonton Boom

Workers who are considering moving to Edmonton this spring should take heed of a warning issued on Tuesday morning by Fred J. White, regional superintendent of the Unemployment Insurance Commission. Mr. White said that the recent publicity given to the estimated migration of 10,000 workers to Edmonton was causing employment officials some concern. For this reason those anticipating a move to Alberta's capitol city should make use of the clearance system provided by every office of the National Employment service.

Mr. White said "The factors contributing to this migration are the much-publicized booms in the oil and construction industries. However, on March 10 our Edmonton office had over 4,000 workers registered for work and at the same time there were only 530 jobs open. This situation should right itself shortly after the arrival of spring, and conditional upon the amount of work to be done, there will be additional jobs for some transients. At this moment, however, we are going to do everything possible to see that those considering transferring to Edmonton have been advised before hand what their employment possibilities will be."

"Anyone anticipating a move to Edmonton should apply as soon as possible to the nearest office of the N.E.S. Any of our 30 offices in this region will complete employment records on workers desirous of such a move and then forward the application immediately to Edmonton. There, our officials will see that every application for work is brought to the attention of the industry concerned. Everyone for whom we can find work will be advised as soon as possible. This arrangement will have the desirable effect of having only those people going to Edmonton for whom jobs have been arranged."

Mr. White continued "Over 3,000 men are registered for work at the present moment in Edmonton, and many of them are skilled and semi-skilled construction workers. Only a week ago our Edmonton office reported that they had nearly 400 applications from carpenters and 40 from painters. Others registered for work were 250 truck drivers, 330 unskilled construction workers and 300 unskilled laborers. It is going to be some time before all of the men are absorbed into the building trades."

Mr. White concluded his statement by saying that "Workers registering with our offices before going to Edmonton can save possible hardship. At the same time they might find that they are overlooking excellent employment possibilities in their own localities."

FILMS SHOWING FEATURES
ELKS GATHERING

At a recent social gathering staged by Coleman Elks, those present were treated to an unusual showing of motion pictures taken by Larry Way, an employee of Roggiani Lumber Co. Way took the pictures while serving in India as a major in the British Army. A great deal of interest was added to the showing by Mr. Way's comments based on his own experiences while serving in the strange, exotic homeland of Rajahs and "Untouchables". That Mr. Way is still pursuing his favorite hobby was clearly illustrated by his added showing of films depicting scenes in Roggiani's lumber camp.

COLEMAN YOUTH FINED

and was fined $10 and costs of the court for what was described as a "very foolish and dangerous practice". In addition, the police confiscated Cocciolone's firearm.

A Farm Storage Tank Doesn't "Cost" IT PAYS!

A farm storage tank permits you to buy and store enough fuel at one time to be sure of having a supply on hand when you need it. No costly delays when tractors stand idle, waiting for fuel to be delivered.

It helps to keep fuel clean and avoid plugging of fuel lines and carburetors with grit, dust or water. The tank can be mounted with enough slant to cause any impurities to settle away from the outlet.

It saves time in re-fueling tractors and trucks, if the tank is mounted overhead. Gravity flow is quicker than pumping or pouring. It prevents the spillage of the pump-and-pail method... or the wastage of the "last gallon" that is often left in the bottom of each barrel.

A farm storage tank pays in added safety, because it can be located well away from house, barn or sheds.

Tanks come in three sizes. The price is reasonable. See your Imperial Oil Agent.

DEBUT OF A FAMOUS DAD'S DAUGHTER—Portland Mason, four-month-old daughter of screen favorite James Mason and his wife Pamela, makes her debut for the Hollywood cameras with her parents. The baby, named for Fred Allen's wife, Portland, is the Mason's first child. Her famous dad recently completed the role of the French author, Gustave Flaubert in M.G.M.'s filming of the classic, "Madame Bovary", and mom was the author of a best-selling novel not long ago. Portland's just got to be somebody eventually. (S.N.S. photo)

PENALTY FOR BEING BRIDEGROOM—Nobody was going to fool bridegroom Bill McIntyre, 23, of Pittsburgh, Pa., with any of those corny gags after his marriage to Sally Edgar — or so he boasted to his fellow-employees. The foolproof newwed found himself in this dilemma after his companions at the Jackson Gear Co., Etna, Pa., grabbed him during his lunch hour, put him in this packing case and nailed it. Then they took him to a nearby highway intersection for all to see. They released about an hour later and set him free. (S.N.S. photo)

AN OLD NATIVE CUSTOM!—Ice cream and the folks on this continent linked as closely as ham and eggs or buttons and bows, as Ada Fishburn, English factory worker, (right), discovers to her delight as she samples a tasty concoction in an ice cream stand down the street from her U.S. home. Ada arrived from England to take the job of Mary Ughianitz, who is already working on Ada's old job in England, in a swap that will last for a month. With her is Mary's sister, Veronica Ughianitz. Ada is going to work in the Duro Test Corporation factory in North Bergen, N.J. (S.N.S. photo)

NEGOTIATED PEACE WITH ISRAEL—Here is the Trans-Jordan delegation, that negotiated the armistice with the state of Israel. The conferences were held on the island of Rhodes. The man in center (wearing trench-coat) is Amiel Soudi el Djoundi, leader of the delegation, the uniformed officer (second from right) is the famous Glub Pasha, British officer who trained the Arab Legion and who commands Trans-Jordan's armed forces. (S.N.S. photo)

ICE FOILS MOTHER—Unable to break through a three-inch layer of ice with her hands, Mrs. Nora Russell, shown here with her daughter, Catherine Elizabeth, saw the two-year-old girl drown at Greenville, Ont. Seconds earlier the mother had plunged into eight feet of fast-flowing water to pull her son, George Henry, to safety. The children were twins. S.N.S. photo.

IT'S A GREAT, BIG, WONDERFUL WORLD—Looking forward to a new life in Canada is this happy little girl, Maria Kaminska, aged three, seen hugging her doll. She arrived in Canada with a large group of displaced persons from Europe bound for new homes in our provinces. (S.N.S. photo)

POPULAR WITH CANINE SET—Friend of the dogs is ABCD. "Alphabetical" Smith who carries mail over a Kitsilano route in Vancouver. For more than a year, six neighborhood dogs have met him each morning, and followed him on his rounds. A recent change of route fooled them, but two, shown greeting him, quickly found him. Smith expects the others soon will track him down.—S.N.S. photo.

MEETS SISTER AFTER DECADE—After 10 years apart these sisters embrace each other at Ellis Island, where 489 D.P.'s from a sealed train that carried them across the U.S. are waiting to sail to Genoa, Italy. The D.P.'s are from Shanghai and their final destination is Israel. Mrs. Fatma Zeynel, (right), weeps as she clasps her sister, Mrs. McKenna Buffell of Annapolis. (S.N.S. photo)

TO BE HONEY QUEEN—The judges did a fair job of picking when they selected Temple, Texas as "Honey Queen" for the Florida honey jubilee. REPRESENTS CANADA—Patricia "Patsy" Magann, blonde and blue-eyed daughter of George L. Magann, counselor at the Canadian embassy in Washington, represented Canada at the Mardi Gras celebrations in Galveston, Texas. Unlike Europeans, she had no "national dress" as required, but a hurried trip to Canada produced a specially designed outfit. She wore an ermine muff and headpiece, a token of the Canadian northland, and a white dress styled with sequin trimmed neckline and full skirt. She will wear the outfit at the West Point ball. (S.N.S. photo)

NEW AUSNIE STAMP—New Australian five-shilling stamp will come out April 11. Prominent in the design will be the Australian coat of arms flanked by an emu and kangaroo. The new issue will measure 28 x 30.5 mm., perforations 20 by 21. There will be 60 to a sheet. (S.N.S. photo)

HERE'S ONE FOR "BELIEVE IT OR NOT MIPLEY"—Three-legged calf, normal in every other respect, was born recently on the farm of Michael Hammi in Bertie township, near Niagara Falls, Ont. The animal's hind legs are perfectly formed but it has only one in front.—S.N.S. photo.
